

Neil Gaiman Recommends Scary Books to Give Readers this Halloween

For Younger Readers

Diana Wynne Jones
Aunt Maria
Fire and Hemlock
The Time of the Ghost

Stephen King
The Eyes of the Dragon

John Bellairs
The House with a clock in its Walls

Ray Bradbury
Something Wicked This Way Comes
The October Country
The Halloween Tree

Alvin Schwartz
Scary Stories to Tell in the Dark

R.L. Stine
Goosebumps

Roald Dahl
The Witches

Ottfried Preussler
Krabat (AKA The Satanic Mill)

Clive Barker
The Thief of Always

For Teen and Adult Readers

Stephen King
Bag of Bones It The Shining
Carrie Night Shift The Stand
 Salem's Lot

James Herbert
The Magic Cottage

Peter Straub
Ghost Story Shadowlands
Floating Dragon Mr. X

Shirley Jackson
The Haunting of Hill House
The Lottery and Other Stories

Clive Barker
The Damnation Game
Books of Blood

Ramsey Campbell
Incarnate
Alone with the Horrors

Joe Hill
Heart-Shaped Box

Jonathan Carroll
Voice of Our Shadow

Susan Hill
The Woman in Black

William Peter Blatty
The Exorcist

Mark Z. Danielewski
House of Leaves

Henry James
The Turn of the Screw

Any short story collection by Arthur Machen or M.R. James,
H. P. Lovecraft, Edgar Allan Poe
or Robert Aickman